

Kleos Exosomes + PDRN

Front Desk Script & Add-On Pricing · Working draft, 17 August 2026

Status: Working draft — pricing proposed, not yet in GlossGenius. Nothing here is bookable or quotable to a client until it exists as a GlossGenius line item (truth chain: GlossGenius = commerce truth → `ALL-SERVICES-PRICING.MD` = mirror → this file = the words we say).

Created: 2026-08-17 Product source: Kleos Health sales consultation, 2026-08-17 (Notion: KLEO's Exosomes Product Consultation — Aesthetic Clinic Sales Meeting, LaunchWell Inbox). Wholesale figures below come from that meeting; the Kleos order-form PDF has not been parsed — see § 10. Provider lane: Amber Mingione, Licensed Esthetician — topical application only, on any service in the practice. See § 1.

1. Read this before you say a single word about it

Five hard lines. Everything else in this document sits inside them.

1. It is topical. Always. Only. We apply exosomes and PDRN to the surface of the skin after a procedure. We do not inject either one, we do not describe them as injectable, and we do not answer "can you inject it" with anything other than "no — we use it topically." There are no FDA-approved exosome or salmon-DNA injectables in the United States. If a client says another practice injected it, do not comment on that practice.
2. Never say "FDA-approved," "clinically proven," "stem cell," or "regenerative therapy." All four are banned by `COMPLIANCE-COPY-RULES.md` § 2. Exosomes are a cosmetic topical here. That is the whole claim.
3. Never repeat the vendor's "results last 21+ months." That is a manufacturer sales figure. It is not something House of Rose has verified, and stating it at the desk turns it into a promise we own. If a client asks how long it lasts, use the answer in § 6.
4. Never say it "heals," "repairs," "cures," "fixes," or "treats" acne, scarring, rosacea, hair loss, or any condition. Describe what we do (apply it after the procedure) and what the client may notice (appearance-level, with variation language).
5. No discount, special, deal, package-savings, or member framing. State the price plainly. We do not offer memberships and never will.

If a client pushes past what you can answer factually, the correct move is: "That's a provider question — let me have Amber answer that directly so you get it right." Deferring is never a failure. Guessing is.

2. The 60-second explanation (say it like this)

"Exosomes are a topical concentrate we apply right after a treatment, while the skin is most receptive. Anything that creates micro-channels — microneedling, Morpheus8, dermaplaning — opens a window for a short time, and this is what we put into that window. It's a Korean-manufactured human-derived exosome serum, and we can pair it with a PDRN booster, which is a polynucleotide derived from salmon. Both are applied to the skin's surface. We don't inject them.

Most people add it to the treatment they were already booking. It's the difference between finishing the procedure and finishing it well. Individual results vary, and Amber will tell you whether it makes sense for what you came in for."

When to deploy it: at booking, at check-in, and at checkout for rebooking. Three touches, not one. Most conversions happen at check-in, when the client is already committed and the marginal spend feels small.

Never lead with the price. Lead with the window. The price answers a question the client asks second.

3. Internal price card

Do not put these numbers on the website. House of Rose does not display prices publicly (pricing-confidentiality decision, 2026-07-24, reaffirmed 2026-08-11). Quote at booking or at the desk.

3a. Exosome Infusion — Add-On

TIER	ADD ON TO	SINGLE	SERIES OF 3	PER SESSION IN SERIES	SERIES SAVES
Tier 1	Glo2Facial, Dermaplaning, BioRePeel, Face Reality peels, Signature / Skin Reset / Sculpt & Lift / Radiance & Renewal / Mommy & Me	$299	$829	$276	$68
Tier 2	Procell (Pro & MD), PRF Microneedling, CO2 Lift Carboxy, GlowTox, and small-area Morpheus8 (Scars, Chest, Around the Eyes, Around the Mouth)	$399	$1,050	$350	$147
Tier 3	Morpheus8 Full Face / Face & Neck / Burst Deep / Resurfacing / Prime Eyes & Mouth, Lumecca Peak, Forma, Fusion, Diolaze	$549	$1,450	$483	$197

⚠ Tier assignment is by base-service value, not by device. A $500 Morpheus8 Chest treatment cannot carry a $549 add-on — the add-on would cost more than the treatment, and the client will hear that. Small-area Morpheus8 lines ($450–$700 base) sit in Tier 2.

3b. PDRN Booster — Add-On

ITEM	SINGLE	SERIES OF 3	PER SESSION IN SERIES	SERIES SAVES
PDRN Booster added to any Exosome Infusion tier	+$150	$399	$133	$51
PDRN Booster — standalone (no exosomes)	$225	$599	$200	$76

⚠ PDRN wholesale cost is unconfirmed — it was not quoted in the 2026-08-17 meeting. Confirm from the Kleos order form before locking these four numbers (§ 10).

3c. Exosome Sheet Mask — Add-On

ITEM	SINGLE	SERIES OF 3	PER SESSION IN SERIES	SERIES SAVES
Exosome Sheet Mask, in-treatment (human-derived)	$55	$145	$48	$20
Exosome Sheet Mask — retail, take-home	$40	$105	$35	$15

Wholesale ~$17.50/mask ($349.95 / 20). The in-treatment mask is the lowest-friction yes on the menu at ~68% margin. Offer it on every facial, every time, including waxing and IV clients who came in for something else. It does not require open channels — it just performs better after them.

3d. Exosome Infusion Facial — standalone service

SERVICE	DURATION	SINGLE	SERIES OF 3	PER SESSION IN SERIES	SERIES SAVES
Exosome Infusion Facial (cleanse → dermaplane → full exosome vial, topical → sheet mask)	60 min	$395	$1,050	$350	$135

This fills the "Exosome Infusion" line already flagged as present in older docs but unpriced in GlossGenius in ALL-SERVICES-PRICING.MD § Advanced Facials. It must be created as a real GlossGenius line item before it is bookable.

3e. Take-home vial

The remainder of the client's mixed vial goes home with them on Tier 2, Tier 3, and the Exosome Infusion Facial — refrigerated immediately, used within 72 hours. It is included, not a line item. Say it out loud at checkout; it's the part clients repeat to their friends.

3f. Total ticket — Morpheus8 with the exosome add-on

The number the client actually pays. Base prices are current GlossGenius lines from ALL-SERVICES-PRICING.MD ; add-on tiers are proposed.

MORPHEUS8 AREA	BASE SINGLE	+ EXOSOME		BASE SERIES 3	+ EXOSOME SERIES		PER SESSION
Burst — Full Face	$1,200	$549	$1,749	$3,000	$1,450	$4,450	$1,483
Burst — Face & Neck	$1,250	$549	$1,799	$3,500	$1,450	$4,950	$1,650
Resurfacing — Full Face	$750	$549	$1,299	$2,000	$1,450	$3,450	$1,150
Resurfacing — Face & Neck	$950	$549	$1,499	$2,700	$1,450	$4,150	$1,383
Prime — Eyes & Mouth	$1,000	$549	$1,549	$2,200	$1,450	$3,650	$1,217
Burst — Chest	$500	$399	$899	$1,300	$1,050	$2,350	$783
Burst — Scars	$500	$399	$899	$1,300	$1,050	$2,350	$783
Prime — Around the Eyes	$450	$399	$849	$1,200	$1,050	$2,250	$750
Prime — Around the Mouth	$450	$399	$849	$1,200	$1,050	$2,250	$750

3g. Series pricing — do not quote until it's in GlossGenius

Every series column above is proposed. ALL-SERVICES-PRICING.MD § Open items already flags that most series/package tiers don't exist as GlossGenius line items. Build them there first, then rebuild the ledger, then quote. Until that happens the honest answer at the desk is "we're selling it per treatment right now."

How to say a series price: state the series price and the per-session figure. That's factual product structure. Do not frame it as a saving, a deal, a discount, or a percentage off — the "series saves" column above is internal math for your own decision-making, not a phrase to say to a client. Public and ad surfaces are governed by COMPLIANCE-COPY-RULES.md § 2.

4. Where the money actually is — margin math (internal only, never say this out loud)

LINE	SINGLE PRICE	EST. PRODUCT COST	GROSS	SERIES OF 3	SERIES COST	SERIES GROSS
Sheet mask add-on	$55	~$18	~$37 (68%)	$145	~$53	~$92 (63%)
Tier 1	$299	~$164 (1 vial) / ~$82 (vial shared, same day)	45% → 73%	$829	~$492	~$337 (41%)
Tier 2	$399	~$164	~59%	$1,050	~$492	~$558 (53%)
Tier 3	$549	~$164	~70%	$1,450	~$492	~$958 (66%)
Exosome Infusion Facial	$395	~$182 (vial + mask)	~54%	$1,050	~$546	~$504 (48%)

Tier 1 is the thin one — that's why its series saves only $68. Do not let anyone "round it down" to a friendlier number at the desk. At $829 it clears ~41%; below about $780 the series stops being worth the three vials. If a Tier 1 client hesitates, move them to the $55 mask, not to a lower price.

Vial cost assumes the Advanced Exosomes — Skin SKU at $1,639 / 10 treatments = ~$163.90. The dual-purpose skin & hair SKU at $1,199 / 10 = ~$119.90 improves every line above by ~$44.

The single biggest margin lever is same-day vial sharing. A mixed vial holds up for ~72 hours refrigerated. Two Tier-1 clients back to back on one vial roughly doubles the margin on that vial. When you're building the schedule, cluster exosome clients on the same day. That is a front-desk decision, and it's worth real money.

Second lever: the $55 mask. It has the best margin percentage on the card and the lowest resistance. A day with six facials and zero mask add-ons is six missed conversations.

5. Upsell triggers — what to say, by service

Match the sentence to what they're already booked for. Do not use a generic pitch on a specific client.

Booked for Morpheus8, Lumecca, Forma, or Fusion (Tier 3, $549)

"You're already making the biggest investment on our menu today. Amber can finish with a topical exosome application while the channels are still open — that window closes within a few hours and doesn't come back. It's $549 added to what you're booked for. Want me to note it so she has it ready?"

Booked for Procell or PRF Microneedling (Tier 2, $399)

"Since we're microneedling anyway, we can use the exosome concentrate through the treatment instead of just after it, and you take the rest of the vial home for the next couple of days. It's $399 on top of your Procell. Should I add it?"

Booked for Glo2Facial, dermaplaning, BioRePeel, or a basic facial (Tier 1, $299 — or the $55 mask)

"Two options, and neither is required. The sheet mask is $55 and goes on at the end — that's the easy one. The full exosome application is $299 and is more of a step up. Most people start with the mask and see how their skin likes it."

Lead with the mask here. Tier 1 is the harder sell without channels, and a $55 yes today is worth more than a $299 no.

Booked for injectables or IV with Diana Morrison, RN

"If you're in the chair anyway, Amber can add a topical exosome mask at the end for $55. It's separate from what Diana's doing — surface only."

Waxing or a walk-in with no skin service booked

Do not pitch tiers. Pitch the mask, once, and drop it if they don't bite.

Rebooking at checkout — the highest-yield moment nobody uses

"How did the mask feel last time? If you liked it, Amber usually suggests spacing the fuller application with your next microneedling — want me to note it on the booking so you don't have to decide at the door?"

6. Objection handling — verbatim

"What even is an exosome?"

"Think of it as a very concentrated topical made from human-derived cell material, manufactured in Korea under their regulatory standards. We put it on the skin right after a procedure because that's when the skin takes things in best. That's honestly the whole idea — timing plus concentration."

"Is it FDA-approved?"

"It's a topical cosmetic product, so it isn't in the FDA-approval category the way a drug would be — that applies to injectables, and we don't inject it. If you want the manufacturer's documentation, I can get it in front of you." ✗ Never say "yes." ✗ Never say "it doesn't need approval" in a way that sounds dismissive.

"Can you inject it? I saw it on TikTok."

"We don't. Ours is topical only. There aren't FDA-approved injectable exosome or salmon-DNA products in the U.S., so topical is where we stay." Do not editorialize about whoever they saw doing it.

"Salmon DNA? That sounds weird."

"Fair. PDRN is a polynucleotide originally derived from salmon — it's been used in Korean skincare for years. Ours is a topical booster we can mix into the exosome application. Same rule: surface only."

"$549 is a lot on top of what I'm already paying."

"It is, and it's genuinely optional — the Morpheus8 works on its own. The reason people add it is that the window only exists on the day of the treatment. If it's not the right month for it, we can just do it next time." ✗ Do not discount. ✗ Do not offer a "one-time" price. We don't do that.

"How is this different from the Procell stem cell thing?"

"We don't describe Procell as a stem cell treatment — it's microchanneling with the Procell serums. The exosome application is a different product that can go on top of it. Amber can walk you through which combination makes sense for your skin." △ The Kleos rep still owes us a written Procell comparison (§ 10). Until it arrives, do not make comparative efficacy claims in either direction.

"How long does it last?"

"That varies a lot person to person, and I'd rather not give you a number I can't stand behind. Amber will tell you what she's seeing and when she'd want you back." ✗ Never say 21 months. ✗ Never say "up to two years."

"Will it help my acne scars / my hair / my rosacea?"

"That's a provider question — Amber will look at it and tell you honestly whether this is the right tool. I don't want to promise you something on the phone."

"Can I just buy the serum and do it at home?"

"The masks you can take home, and we sell those. The vial gets mixed here and has to be refrigerated and used within about 72 hours, so it's tied to the appointment. If you're doing a full application we send the remainder home with you anyway."

"Does it hurt / is there downtime?"

"The exosome part itself is just applied to the skin — the sensation is from whatever treatment you're having. Amber will go over exactly what to expect for your specific procedure." ✗ Never say "no downtime" or "pain-free" as a blanket statement — banned by compliance rules.

"I need to think about it."

"Totally fine. I'll note it on your chart so Amber has the option ready if you change your mind in the room — no pressure either way." Then stop. One ask, one graceful exit. We don't chase.

7. Aftercare — say this at checkout, every time

"No makeup for 24 hours. If we sent a vial home with you, it goes straight in the fridge and gets used within about three days. Amber will tell you when she wants to see you again."

That's it. Do not add SPF lectures, protocol timelines, or maintenance intervals — those come from the provider, not the desk.

8. Words we use / words we never use

✓ USE	✗ NEVER
"topical," "applied to the skin," "concentrate," "booster"	"injected," "injectable," "infusion" (when describing the application itself)
"human-derived exosomes," "polynucleotide (PDRN)"	"stem cells," "stem cell therapy," "regenerative therapy"
"manufactured in Korea," "manufacturer documentation"	"FDA-approved," "clinically proven," "medical-grade"
"what you may notice," "individual results vary"	"guaranteed," "you'll see," "permanent," "erases," "reverses"
"the appearance of texture / firmness / tone"	"glow," "radiance," "flawless," "ageless," "anti-aging," "turn back the clock"
"Amber Mingione, Licensed Esthetician"	"our skin specialist," "our injector," "our expert," any bare first name in writing
"$549 added to your Morpheus8"	"deal," "special," "% off," "package savings," "member rate"
"Amber will tell you if you're a candidate"	"this works for everyone," "anyone can do it"

Naming law: the service is called Exosome Infusion — Add-On, PDRN Booster — Add-On, Exosome Sheet Mask — Add-On, and Exosome Infusion Facial. Plain and technical. Do not invent a name for it — no "Signature," no "Elite," no "Royal," no botanical anything. The vendor calls their bundle the "Elite package"; we do not adopt that word.

9. Front desk quick card (print this page and tape it under the counter)

EXOSOME INFUSION — ADD-ON	SINGLE	SERIES 3	/SESSION
Tier 1 facials·dermaplane·peels	$299	$829	$276
Tier 2 Procell·PRF·carboxy· GlowTox·small-area M8	$399	$1,050	$350
Tier 3 M8 face/neck·Lumecca· Forma·Fusion·Diolaze	$549	$1,450	$483
PDRN BOOSTER	+$150 on any tier	$399 / 3	$133
	$225 standalone	$599 / 3	$200
SHEET MASK	$55 in-treatment	$145 / 3	$48
	$40 retail	$105 / 3	$35
EXOSOME INFUSION FACIAL 60 min	$395	$1,050 / 3	$350
TICKET CHECK — M8 Full Face	$1,200 + $549 =	$1,749
M8 Chest	$500 + $399 =	$899 (Tier 2, not 3)
TOPICAL ONLY. NEVER INJECTED.
SAY the series price + per-session. NEVER say "saves" or "discount".
NEVER SAY: FDA-approved · stem cell · 21 months · cures/heals/treats
no downtime · guaranteed · glow · deal/discount
ASK 3 TIMES: at booking · at check-in · at checkout
CLUSTER EXOSOME CLIENTS ON THE SAME DAY — one vial, 72 hrs, two clients.

10. Open items — resolve before this goes live

1. Kleos order form has not been parsed. The PDF is attached to the Notion page but was not read for this draft. Confirm every wholesale figure, and get the PDRN Boosting Solution price, which was never quoted in the meeting. §§ 3b and 4 depend on it.

2. Which exosome SKU are we buying? Skin-specific at $1,639/10 (~$164/tx, the sample we already tried) or dual-purpose skin & hair at $1,199/10 (~$120/tx). ~$44/treatment difference on every single add-on. If hair is not a service we offer, the skin SKU is the defensible choice; if it might be, the dual-purpose SKU is the cheaper hedge. Amber's call.
 3. Nothing here exists in GlossGenius. Until each line is created there, none of it is bookable and none of it may be quoted as a price. Create, then rebuild `ALL-SERVICES-PRICING.MD`.
 4. Procell comparison is still owed by the rep. Until it arrives in writing, § 6 stays neutral and we make no comparative claim between Kleos exosomes and Procell.
 5. Confirm the topical-only posture with Diana Morrison, RN and the medical director before launch. This draft assumes topical application by Amber Mingione, Licensed Esthetician, on all services. If anyone intends anything other than topical, stop and get counsel — that changes the regulatory analysis entirely.
 6. △ Unrelated flag from the same meeting, worth raising anyway: the rep advised that Morpheus8 needle tips can be reused for up to three treatments despite the manufacturer specifying single use. That is a vendor rep's opinion about another manufacturer's single-use device. Reusing single-use skin-penetrating tips is an infection-control and device-labeling exposure, not a cost optimization. Do not adopt it on a sales rep's say-so.
 7. Website copy is out of scope here. This is an internal desk script. Any public page for these services goes through the full publish checklist in `COMPLIANCE-COPY-RULES.md` § 5 first, and carries no price.
-

11. Sources

- Notion — KLEO's Exosomes Product Consultation, Aesthetic Clinic Sales Meeting, 2026-08-17 (wholesale pricing, protocols, shelf life, mask SKUs, rep's $250 floor / $300–400 typical add-on guidance).
- `docs/GOVERNANCE/internal_only/services/ALL-SERVICES-PRICING.MD` (rebuilt 2026-08-06) — base service prices every tier attaches to; the unpriced "Exosome Infusion" flag.
- `docs/GOVERNANCE/internal_only/compliance/COMPLIANCE-COPY-RULES.md` — §§ 2, 3, 5 claim boundaries.
- `CLAUDE.md` — provider lanes, naming law, no-memberships rule, pricing confidentiality.
- Market comps, 2026: exosome add-ons $300–$800 nationally; a Tampa practice charges $400 to add exosomes to Procell, Morpheus8, and VI Peel; standalone exosome facials $500–$1,500 in Florida; PDRN/polynucleotide standalone $500–$1,200 per area, with no FDA-approved salmon-DNA injectable in the U.S.